Letter from the President

Merry Christmas from the Chamber! A shout out to our December Business of the Month; Crescent Paper Tube Company, located in the industrial park in Lewisport. Plant manager, Tim Heavrin has provided the company history in the article below.

Each December, we do our annual membership address update; so while signing the attendance sheet during our the breakfast meeting, please provide us with current mail and e-mail addresses.

Our speakers for this month's breakfast is our State Representative, Dwight Butler and our Senator, Carroll Gibson. Please plan to attend this informative hour. Congratulations to the Sequa Corporation of New York on its recent purchase of the Roll Coater plant in Hawesville; now known as, Precoat Metals.

I like to welcome our newest chamber member; Lewisport Family Diner. Mike Sutton and his staff is here to serve all Hancock County residents.

Business of the Month

Crescent Paper Tube, established in 1919, is a privately held company headquartered in Florence, KY. The owners of the company are father and son, Skip and Stuart Seltman. They were drawn to Hancock County due to its strong industrial base over twenty years ago, and are very proud to be a thriving business providing stable employment. Led by plant manager, Tim Heavrin, several of the employees boast over 15 years of employment with the Company.

Crescent Paper Tube manufactures paper tubes and cores for a wide variety of uses from small business machine rolls to construction forms. Several large production facilities within the community use paper tubes in order to wind finished product for shipment as well as fulfilling other packaging and converting needs. The Lewisport facility has the ability to produce tubes and cores ranging from 2" to 48" in diameter. The custom made paper tubes are designed and produced in order to meet each individual customer's needs.

Crescent Paper Tube is proud to be one of the nation's leading independent, most technologically advanced, paper tube manufacturers. The Company's success for over 90 years is a result of the commitment it has to its customers, industry, and the communities it serves. Crescent Paper Tube is committed to remaining a viable business in the Hancock County Community for years to come.

Have a Blessed Christmas!
